

London, 22 November 2018

Twelve Capital* has appointed fund distribution consultancy Harrington Cooper to distribute its investment products within the UK and in French-speaking Europe.

Twelve Capital is a leading provider of capital to the insurance and reinsurance industry with an AUM in excess of USD 4.3bn (as at 30 September 2018). Its investment strategies are focused on opportunities across the whole insurance sector, including Catastrophe (Cat) Bonds, Insurance Bonds, Insurance Equities, Private Insurance-Linked Securities and Insurance Private Debt. The firm also structures multi-asset portfolios of its Best Ideas. The insurance sector represents a part of the market that is typically under-researched by asset managers and banks. This creates significant investment opportunities for Twelve Capital funds.

Philipp Graf, Managing Director, Global Distribution, of Twelve Capital, commented: "Our partnership with Harrington Cooper will enable us to bring our specialised capabilities to a wider group of investors across the UK and French-speaking Europe. Our investors are predominantly based in Switzerland, Germany, Netherlands and Scandinavia and together with Harrington Cooper we aim to expand our investor base within Europe."

Harry Dickinson, Managing Partner of Harrington Cooper, commented: "We know that our investor base is always on the lookout for specialist funds to diversify their risk. We believe that Twelve Capital's investment strategies can provide this, due to their low correlation to traditional risk assets and their focus on under-researched and often misunderstood asset classes. We look forward to raising assets for Twelve Capital across the UK and Europe."
